

Celebrating 50 Years of Research and Academic Endeavour

---

About the Speaker:

Professor Sebastian Morris is at the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad (IIMA) and a member of the Economics, and Public Systems Areas. His teaching and research interests include international trade and investment, industrial development, macroeconomics, economic history, public sector, infrastructure, small firms, electricity reforms, regulation, PPPs, land markets, and the Indian economy. Recipient of the Ford Foundation Post-Doctoral Fellowship in International Economics he had won the EXIM Bank's International Trade Research Award. He has earlier worked as Associate Professor at the Institute of Public Enterprise, Hyderabad, and Senior Correspondent for Business India, Visiting Fellow at the University of Pennsylvania, and ICCR Chair Professor at the Copenhagen Business School (Asia Research Centre). He was co-chair of the IIMA-Harvard Kennedy School Phase V programmes for senior government officials. At IIMA, he was the Founding Chair of the PGP-PMP, and the Centre for Infrastructure Policy and Regulation. He has been the editor of the India Infrastructure Reports for the years 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004, covering the themes - Market Structure and Regulation, Governance Issues for Commercialization, Public Expenditure Allocation and Accountability, and Ensuring Value for Money. One of his books is The Growth and Transformation of Small Firms in India. He has consulted for international and national organisations besides being member of several expert committees of the Government of India, and state governments. Currently, he is a member of the board of directors of the Goa Institute of Management, and People Can Services Ltd.